

ActBe.org

Leveraging relationships and work ethic to build a better United States.

The Vision

Our mission is to create a sustainable ecosystem of jobs in the United States that equitably employs immigrants, bolsters the economy, strengthens the character of the country, and positively impacts the world.

Imagine a scenario where the demand for workers is always balanced by a qualified and available workforce. By building out this ecosystem, that vision can become a reality.

The Why

As job demand waxes and wanes in the United States, immigrants from all over the world look to the country as an opportunity for a better life. Developing a sustainable immigration ecosystem balances the needs of the United States with a merit-based jobs system which is safe, legal, and fair to those who seek to participate in the application process. By getting in front of the problem of illegal immigration and providing alternatives in a proactive way, we can create a program which is beneficial for everyone and helpful to the economy, while building meaningful employment relationships.

The Who and the What

ActBe.org is seeking forward-thinking people for a collaborative and comprehensive effort to develop and implement the sustainable immigration ecosystem. A strong network of passionate advocates must be formed to spur the growth of this critical work and set practical ideas in motion.

The purpose of ActBe.org is to function as the organizer of the project, while simultaneously serving as a group of advocates to lobby for its significance and value to society.

The How

While government officials, judges, and others make decisions about refugees and asylum situations, building a sustainable legal immigration ecosystem will alternatively be driven by input from employers and people who want to partner with the program.

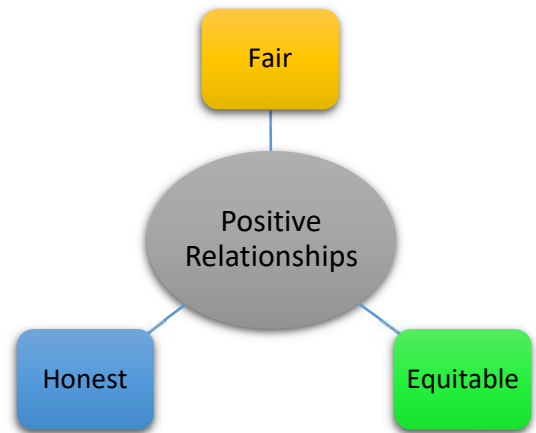

Below are some of the concepts we are seeking to further plan out and implement:

- Establishing a database for workplace sponsorship through a tiered and merit-based approach.

- Creating workforce training opportunities to prepare immigrants for application to the database.
- Matching open-minded employers with immigrants who are seeking a better life in the United States.

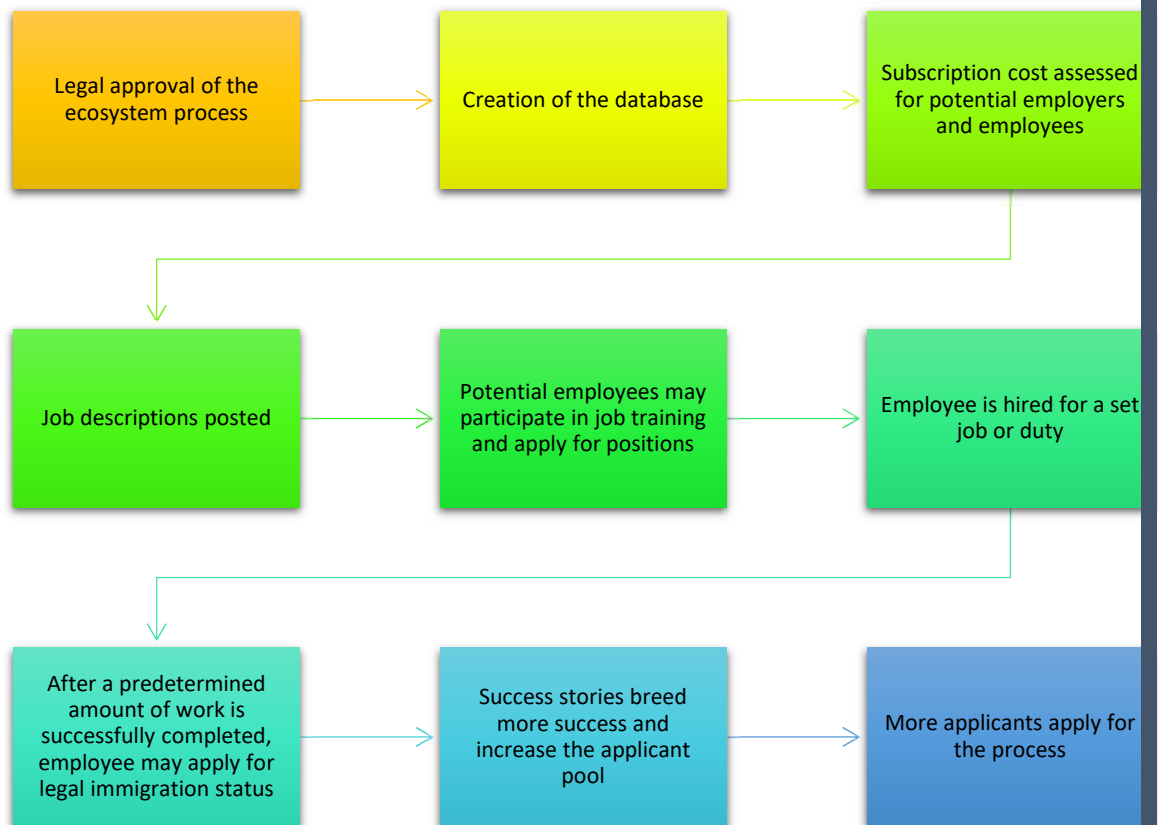

Guiding Tenets

The basis for our work is founded upon the elements to the right. Everything that we believe is based upon fostering positive relationships among all through honest, fair, and equitable interactions.

Ecosystem Process

While the details are not yet developed, the below infographic explains the potential outline for the sustainable legal immigration ecosystem process.
